Definition

- In this presentation, green & climate jobs will be defined as full-time, part-time, or internship opportunities that provide a positive social or environmental benefit.
- This includes work in sectors such as conservation, clean energy, energy efficiency, and many others.
- It also reflects a broad perspective and includes areas such as fair trade.
- These jobs can be in the public, private, or non-profit sector.

Definition

The Impact of Fair Trade Certification

When you see our Fair Trade Certified label on a product, you can trust that it was made according to rigorous standards that protect the livelihoods of farmers, fishers, and other producer communities and the environment.

- ✓ Guaranteed minimum price that acts as a safety net for coffee farmers and producers when the market prices are low
- ✓ Rigorous Fair Trade Certified standards ensure safe and healthy working conditions, the elimination of forced/child labor, fair and consistent compensation, and environmental protections and product traceability
- ✓ Producer communities receive additional compensation through Community Development Funds

Theme #1:

Many Pathways for Impact

The “Why” in My Career

- Lived experience in poverty
- Educational opportunities
- Motivated to turn “pain into purpose”

Think about your own “why”...

Events at KSG Recognized Needs of Homeless

Food and clothing drives, educational events, and sign-ups for volunteer activities were some of the activities featured in "Homelessness Awareness Week: Solutions for the 1990s" at the Kennedy School of Government last week.

Coordinated by the Public Service Interest Group (PSIG), a Kennedy School student organization, the week's activities were aimed at deepening public understanding of homelessness as well as exploring ways in which individuals and communities can help solve the problem.

"We wanted to get people acquainted with the dimensions of the problem and then give them a range of options for getting involved. We know we won't save the world with this one week, but it will have a ripple effect," said Leonard Adler, a second-year Kennedy School student who helped organize Homelessness Awareness Week.

The week's keynote event was a panel discussion held in Starr Auditorium titled "Solving an American Disgrace." The speakers were Sue Marsh, executive director of Massachusetts Coalition for the Homeless; Leslie Samuelrich, director of National Student Campaign Against Hunger and Homelessness; and Charles Royer, director of the Institute of Politics and former mayor of Seattle.

The panelists spoke about the high cost of housing in Boston, where two-bedroom apartments have now reached a median advertised rent of $944 per month.

Royer recommended that Boston follow Seattle's example in providing the homeless with housing, clothing, and job counseling. He said that the federal government should subsidize such programs, and that in the long run such subsidies would cost less than keeping the homeless in jails or shelters.

On Thursday, a second public discussion, titled "A View From Other Countries," provided an international perspective on homelessness. The speakers were Katherine Ichoya of the National Bank of Kenya, and George Deikun of the Agency for International Development.

Members of PSIG maintained an information table in the Forum area through the week with displays, free resource guides, and sign-ups for volunteer activities. On Thursday, KSG students brought in bread, meat, cheese, mayonnaise, mustard, and other ingredients to make sandwiches to be brought to local shelters.

One of the more concrete results of Homelessness Awareness Week was the piles of sweaters and coats collected as part of the week-long clothing drive. Adler said that PSIG was still counting the numerous contributions, but he estimates that there are approximately 80 bags of warm clothing to be distributed to area shelters.

Homelessness Awareness Week was cosponsored by the Community Service Clearinghouse, Creative Gourmet, Phillips Brooks House, the Taubman Center for State and Local Government, and the Wiener Center for Social Policy.

The Forum on Fighting Poverty in America

About the Forum...

Fighting poverty together. That is the vision of students at Georgetown University Law Center's Poverty Forum. We, like you, are frustrated with the growing problem of poverty in America. But also like you, we remain committed to finding answers that address not only the symptoms of poverty—homelessness, hunger, illiteracy—but its causes.

To help find these answers we have established the nation's first multidisciplinary publication devoted exclusively to issues of poverty in America. Our mission is to help create comprehensive solutions to fighting poverty by building a national dialogue among those working on these issues every day—from service providers to policymakers and those working in fields from sociology to public health.

The Forum is produced in conjunction with a national Board of Advisors—experts in law, economics, sociology and other disciplines. Poor people are also involved so that their voices are heard in shaping the direction of the Forum. The Forum will also sponsor a "Fighting Poverty Symposium," which will bring together practitioners, advocates and policymakers to discuss current anti-poverty strategies.

You can be a part—an important part—of this major initiative to fight poverty in America.

How To Participate in the Forum

There are four ways that you can be a part of the work of the Forum. Please indicate your interest by completing the attached "Action Card."

◆ Subscribe

Receive a subscription to the Forum to learn what others are doing to fight poverty across the country. The price is $25 for organizations, and free for low-income individuals.

◆ Write Articles

We are accepting articles for our January issue. The theme is "An Anti-Poverty Agenda for the Next President." In addition, articles on any poverty-related topic are also welcomed for our "Feature Articles" section. If you send in the attached form, a member of the Editorial Board will contact you with more information.

◆ Send us information about your group

If you would like others around the country to know about your organization, its publications, etc. just send back the attached form and we'll include you in the Forum's Resource Guide.

◆ Become a "Friend of the Forum"

Start-up funds for the Forum have come from the Georgetown Law Center. However, to keep the Forum going strong we need support from concerned people like you. Any amount is deeply appreciated and you will be acknowledged in a special section of the Forum.

ACTION CARD

- I'm interested in writing an article for the Forum. Please have a member of the Editorial Board contact me.
- I would like ___ one-year subscription(s) to the Forum on Fighting Poverty in America at $25 each. Low-income individuals may request a waiver of the subscription fee.
- I would like my organization included in the Forum's Resource Guide and have enclosed the appropriate information.
- I believe in the mission of the Forum to bring together those dedicated to fighting poverty in America. I would like to support the Forum as follows:
- |                      |                          |

Poverty Law Journal First of Its Kind in the Nation

Students at Georgetown University Law Center have launched the nation's first law journal to focus on understanding and addressing the problem of poverty, the Georgetown Journal on Fighting Poverty. The premiere issue was published in January 1994.

"We started this journal because we wanted to use our legal education to make an impact on the pressing social problem of poverty," said Shana DeSouza, a third-year who serves as co-editor-in-chief with fellow third-year Leonard Adler. DeSouza and Adler have worked with over 30 law students during the past two years to establish the journal. Georgetown faculty member Peter Edelman, a recipient of the 1993 NAPIL Outstanding Public Interest Advocate Award, served as the journal's faculty adviser prior to accepting his current position as counselor to the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services.

The first issue features articles written by Barbara Sard, director of Greater Boston Legal Services' Homelessness Unit, and Martha Davis, a staff attorney at the NOW Legal Defense and Education Fund. The issue also contains a memorial to former Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall and a symposium titled "Dear Mr. President: Fighting Poverty in a New Administration." The memorial was written by Georgetown professors Susan Low Bloch, Vicki Jackson, Michael Seidman and Mark Tushnet, who all served as clerks to the late justice.

The journal is unique to the law journal community in that it takes a holistic approach to examining poverty, through a focus on law, policy, practice, and voices of poor people. Thus, readers will find articles from legal scholars as well as from legal practitioners working on the front lines of the fight against poverty. To incorporate the perspectives of poor people, the journal publishes essays and poetry written by poor people and interviews conducted by staff members. In addition, the journal uses an innovative 8 1/2 X 11 format, selected to make the journal accessible to a diverse readership.

The journal's second issue will be released in April. Subscriptions are $25/year, and low-income individuals can request a reduced rate. Call (202) 662-9468 for subscription information or (202) 662-9425 for information about submitting work for the journal.

Optimistic & Realistic

More than 50% of new U.S. grid capacity came from solar in 2023

Utility-scale (35%) and distributed (17%) solar accounted for a combined 52% of all capacity added to U.S. grids in 2023.

It is the first year that solar made up more than half of new US grid capacity.

Solar has added more capacity than any other fuel since 2021, contributing >40% of capacity additions each year, >30% in 7 of the last 8 years, and >20% in each of the last 11 years.

Storage continues to expand as well: 6.9 GW of storage were added to U.S. grids in 2023, up from 4.6 GW in 2022 and 3.9GW in 2021.

Bars represent annual capacity additions in GW<sub>AC</sub> (left axis),
Line represents solar's capacity share of annual additions (right axis)

Note: Graph above shows utility-scale solar as >1 MW<sub>AC</sub> while most of this report uses >5 MW<sub>AC</sub>

Follow the Money

- One method to identify potential future green jobs is to identify where investments are being made today. Investments made today can lead to the development & growth of enterprises = jobs.
- There are ways to track developments in order to identify public and private sector investment.

Social Impact Partnerships Lead

Apply

📍 San Francisco, CA | New York City, NY | Seattle, WA; Washington, DC

About Anthropic

Anthropic's mission is to create reliable, interpretable, and steerable AI systems. We want AI to be safe and beneficial for our users and for society as a whole. Our team is a quickly growing group of committed researchers, engineers, policy experts, and business leaders working together to build beneficial AI systems.

Anthropic is seeking a strategic and impact-driven Social Impact Partnerships Lead to expand the reach of our AI solutions to those who can benefit most. In this role, you'll forge partnerships with diverse stakeholders worldwide to deliver impactful AI applications and develop strategies that maximize positive impact across healthcare, education, entrepreneurship, and beyond.

Responsibilities:

- Create and drive a vision for how AI can be deployed both domestically and across the globe to improve well-being, helping build a team and identifying the right partners, tools, and distribution to maximize impact
- Identify and establish partnerships with governments, non-profits, multinational organizations, and other stakeholders to deploy Anthropic-powered AI solutions in critical sectors like education, healthcare, entrepreneurship, and infrastructure
- Engage with underserved communities and local organizations to co-develop AI services tailored to specific local needs
- Create robust evaluation frameworks for potential place-based and distribution partnerships
